Who We Are

The Exodus Mission is a 501c3 non-profit organization with the goal of providing an impactful restoration program for Veterans and their families.

Our intent is to help former military members reacclimate to society post-military regardless of how many years have passed from service. Our program will focus on physical, emotional, and spiritual wholeness where each Veteran regains a love for God and family with a renewed pursuit of purpose.

Mission, Vision & Values

Our mission is to provide a faith-based program to assist military Veterans to exit the military culture and overcome the training of emotional detachment, so they can gain healing and wholeness.

Our vision is to provide a program to walk alongside the Veteran and their family through a process of reconnecting as a family, so they can pursue their God-given purpose.

Our values are based on a curriculum that is biblically based with the solid foundation of a clear moral compass to help Veterans find their bearings and navigate a healthy family and personal life, but most of all, a deeper relationship with God.

Our History

The Exodus Mission launched in 2023 during a Men's retreat held at Living Waters Ministry Lodge where every branch of the military was present with men in pursuit of their purpose. This event, coupled with the rich history of Living Waters Ministry where tens of thousands of lives have been impacted and changed by a deeper understanding of the Word of God, is what led the curriculum of Living Waters Ministry's 'Healing the Heart' to become the base of the curriculum for The Exodus Mission.

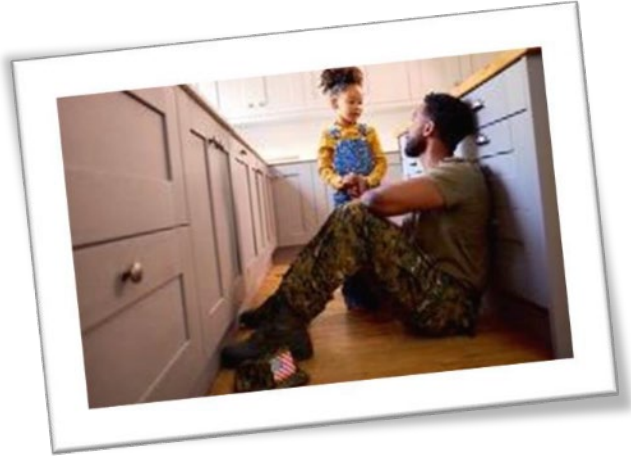

'Healing the Heart' retreats have helped everyone from individuals, families, high-profile pastors, business leaders, and celebrities to professional athletes pursuing healing from trauma. Since Living Waters Ministry, founded by Pastor Lee and Denise Boggs, has been a 501c3 non-profit organization focused on biblical healing of the heart since 1998, they have over 25 years of experience working with individuals and families. This led to the discovery of similarities in specific areas and ways that are unique to military Veterans and their families. The Exodus Mission Program is designed specifically to target those areas and needs and focuses on helping Veterans face the entirety of their military trauma, including healing their heart.

Who We Help

Every soldier regardless of time of service or length of time from service, has undergone a level of trauma. This trauma can be from a failed marrriage to actual combat in the theatre of war. These are the people we help in The Exodus Mission.

God has given the insight to heal and restore the soldiers back to their God-given identity and purpose. They will recognize the unique giftings and talents that were set aside while serving their country that can now be embraced to serve God. Suicide is a very real “option” for many veterans. One in 7 veterans has considered self-harm up to the level of suicide. These mental issues have resulted in more than 86% of military marriages failing in their first marriage; of those, more than 68% end in divorce. The underlying issue is not the couple – it is the person who has unresolved trauma.

Our Veterans return home after completing a mission to defend their country from enemies, foreign and domestic, to deal with their own internal enemies in their head and heart. On the battlefield, there is mission success; however, when returning home many are met with mission failure.

This perceived mission failure is what The Exodus Mission helps Veterans to realize, it is not mission failure but a new mission that starts with an Exodus from all aspects of the military culture; from one mission to another. The full departure from what they had to live with and without to now comprehending that God's abundance will fill every area of need at home. With retreats and healthy relationships, we introduce a word to each Veteran that they can now embrace without fear of mission failure – but true mission success on the home front.

That word; Surrender.

Matthew 24:25-26 reads; Then Jesus told his disciples, "If anyone would come after me, let him deny himself (surrender) and take up his cross and follow Me. For whoever would save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life (surrenders) for My sake will find it. (emphasis added)

The Story and Our Impact

"I didn't serve in the military, but my father did. I had no idea how his being in the military affected me until the issues began to surface with my own husband and children."

- Denise Boggs, Founder of The Exodus Mission

In an unhealthy family environment, problems are not resolved, they are swept under the rug. Sweeping blow-ups under the rug creates a pile-up. Then, the one who stubs their toe on the pile-up has an excuse for blowing up. The cycle continues. It's always everyone else's fault! The only way to break free from the vicious cycle of angry blowups, blaming, and hiding is for someone to be willing to face the family situation and walk in a step-by-step path described in the Twenty Third Psalm. In the Psalm, we read how God led David, "a war veteran" on a step-by-step process where David had to face the issues and trust God to heal him and restore his soul and his spirit so he could take his place as the King of Israel. This is the outcome everyone has to look forward to. As we lead the veteran to deal with the internal turmoil and trauma and overcome them, they will discover their God-given purpose and be equipped to help others find the same.

How YOU Can Help

Pray – for those impacted by military war, culture, or trauma to be led to The Exodus Mission and are prepared to walk out their healing journey into peace and purpose.

Volunteer – there are many volunteer opportunities in multiple areas to donate time and/or skill.

Donate – Monetary donations from individuals, families, foundations, and corporations are greatly appreciated, used responsibly, and are tax deductible.

Legacy Giving - We have developed four levels of full sponsorship called Legacy Giving; We call it Legacy Giving because of the multi-generational impact. Many veterans never share their battlefield experiences, but through this program, Veterans are empowered to share and reshape their experiences. Then, through the reshaping, a new healed legacy is formed for the veteran and his/her family. Not only does The Exodus Mission program change the lives of our NATIONS' HEROES but also impacts their spouses, their children, and their children's children, leaving behind a legacy of peace and healing for future generations.
